

Empandeni Interlude

1899 - 1903

Filled with love and spiritual intensity, Sister Josephine Bullen's little journal provides its readers with cameos of life on the missions in Zimbabwe in the early years of the 20th century. Never intended for the general reading public, the record reveals a charming simplicity, a sharp eye for detail, finely drawn sketches, a zest for the joy and humour of daily events, and a rugged pioneering spirit. It is food for the soul. One wishes that her Superior had given her a larger notebook!
